

UNDERSTANDING HOW YOUR CLUB REPRESENTS YOUR COMMUNITY: A DIVERSITY ASSESSMENT

Rotary is committed to diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI). Thinking about whether your club is diverse means evaluating how well it reflects factors such as the different ethnicities, ages, and professions in your community and whether it has an appropriate gender balance. This assessment will help you identify people, skills, and experiences that are underrepresented in your club and develop a plan to address that. It's equally important to provide the support each person needs so they can have the same kind of experience, which is what we mean by equity. We always want to create a culture of inclusion, where people's differences are respected, supported, and valued.

WHAT YOU'LL GAIN

Conduct this diversity assessment and act on its results to:

- Raise your members' awareness of the diversity in your community
- Build member support for diversifying your club
- Make adjustments so that your club better represents the community

GETTING ORGANIZED

Learn more about diversity and Rotary's recommendations for your club by taking these courses in the Learning Center: Creating an Inclusive Club Culture, Microaggressions, and Diversifying Your Club. Then plan how you'll carry out the assessment, such as by dedicating time at a series of club meetings to each step of the process. Use the Club Action Plan in appendix 1 to track your progress.

Choose a facilitator (such as a DEI expert outside your club) who is comfortable talking about diversity and why it's important. This activity should involve all club members so that everyone has a stake in the process. Including your club members in this process now will increase awareness and support for more action in the future.

Diversifying your club isn't just about changing the mix of people. It also needs to involve making everyone feel valued and welcome, or they won't stay with Rotary.

GETTING STARTED

Step 1: Discuss the advantages of having diverse members.

Talk about the benefits of diversity and celebrate how it has helped you in the past. For example, highlight a project that was more successful because it involved members with diverse professional skills. Or acknowledge a member who identified a club bylaw that could exclude some people and talk about how your club changed it. Discuss how diverse perspectives aid your club's ability to address local needs. Reflect on your club's representation by profession, gender, age, ethnicity, and culture in your community.

Step 2: Collect information.

At the next meeting, summarize your previous discussion and briefly reiterate the positive effects of having diverse members. Explain that the next step is researching your community's demographics so that you can better understand your community's composition by age, gender, ethnicity, income levels, sexual orientation, and more. Distribute the Member Diversity Worksheet. Split club members into groups and ask each group to gather the specified information and complete what they can of the worksheet before the next meeting. You could organize the groups this way:

- Group 1 gets data on the demographics of the community from a local business association, such as the chamber of commerce.
- Group 2 gathers information about the community's cultural and demographic composition from the local tourism bureau.
- Group 3 gets socioeconomic statistics from local economic development experts or the city government.
- Group 4 gets the most recent census results, which may include information on the age, gender, profession, and ethnic identity of the area's residents.

Step 3: Discuss the findings within each group.

At the following meeting, ask each group to discuss what it found, share what it completed on the worksheet, and compile the findings. Then have each group choose a representative to present its data to the club later on. The goal is to have reliable data about the diversity in your community.

Remember as you try to assess the diversity in your club and community that there is a lot of nuance. People can belong to more than one ethnic group or have disabilities that aren't evident. Avoid making assumptions, such as about someone's sexual orientation or gender identity.

Step 4: Report the results and discuss their implications.

Give each group about five minutes at a club meeting to present its findings. Lead a discussion about the information and what it shows.

Talk about whether your club's members reflect:

- The ages of your area's population
- The gender composition of the community's working professionals
- The ethnic and cultural diversity of the community
- The varied socioeconomic levels of the community
- The various types of professions in the community
- The proportion of professionals who have disabilities

Be sure to allow enough time when you're planning the schedule. Each step can take a week or longer.

Step 5: Develop a member diversity action plan.

Now that you've determined who is underrepresented in your club, find ways to connect with these members of your community. You could invite someone to speak to the club about their perspective on the area and the issues you might work on together. Ask people about their experiences and if they are willing to share what they believe the community needs. Determine their interest in joining, how they could contribute to your club, what your club could offer them, and how your club could accommodate their needs. Document your plan and assign tasks to people on the membership committee or other club members. Set goals for how you want to diversify your club, monitor your progress, and keep club members updated.

MEMBER DIVERSITY WORKSHEET

1. What sources did you consult to find data about your community's demographic composition?

2. What data did you find about:

Age:

Gender:

Nationalities (what countries are represented?):

Ethnic background:

Professions:

Sexual orientation:

People with disabilities:

Socioeconomic status:

3. Does this data correspond to the current composition of your club? Explain your evidence.

4. What fact or statistic did you find most interesting?

5. What surprised you the most?

6. What surprised you the least?

7. Which demographic groups are underrepresented in your club?

8. What can your club do to better represent your community?

9. Do you think people from groups that are currently underrepresented would feel welcome in your club?

10. What do your club materials, website, and social media posts show about your club's diversity?

11. How can you integrate your findings into a plan of action?
